Chanchal is a sincere and attentive girl of the Honhar Ladki Program. None of her parents is live. When she was just four year old, her father died due to excessive consumption of alcohol. After few years of her father's death, her mother was also passed away.

It was the crucial and most struggling phase of her childhood, she and her brother Rahul had to drop out from their studies after their parents' death, and they had to shift with their paternal uncle who is also an alcoholic.

Chanchal wanted to continue with her studies again, but due to the economic problem, she could not do it. Her aunt who is a kind-hearted woman also encouraged her to complete her school, and she also motivates her to become the first graduate in the family. Chanchal who is inspired by such motivation has now determined to do it. IDF has conducted much counselling with her uncle and aunt. After multiple rounds of evaluation, Chanchal has been selected for Honhar Ladki program, and she has enrolled in class VI in a public school in Agra in the year 2015. Now, she is in the VIII class. Chanchal is pleased and thankful to the Indian Dreams Foundation to the regular support in her dreams for becoming the first graduate in her family. She is much happy with her classmates and peer groups and enjoys while learning. Now, her aunt and uncle are also supporting her in her studies.
